Election set for Tuesday, May 4

Polls will be open from 6 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday (May 4) for voting in the Appomattox and Pamplin Town elections.

Seven candidates are on the ballot for each election, according to the county clerk.

Running unopposed for Mayor of the Town of Appomattox is incumbent Ronald C. Spiggle.

The six candidates for the six Town Council seats are Richard L. Bass, Walter H. Carson, Samuel E. Carter, Robert C. Hubbard, Thomas W. Lawson, and Raymond A. Noble.

Running unopposed for Mayor of the Town of Pamplin is Patrick F. Harrison.

The six candidates for the six Town Council seats in Pamplin are Russell G. Covington, Ralph M. Hamlett, Echol P. Horton, Thomas C. Ligon,, Mrs. Margaret E. Payne, and Woodrow W. Williams.

Businesses still joining C-of-C

Paid membership in the recently re-organized Appomattox County Chamber of Commerce has reached 41, according to a report from the membership committee at a Monday meeting of the chamber's directors.

Included in the total are 30 area businesses and 11 individuals, according to the membership committee's report. The membership drive will continue, with committee members making personal contacts, according to committee spokesman Lloyd Vaughan.

Any person interested in joining the Chamber of Commerce may contact President Jim Nolen (352-7400) or call Bill Sherrod at the Times-Virginian (352-8215) for further information.

Board members also discussed ways to recognize chamber members. Several suggestions were forwarded at Monday night's meeting, including a plaque for each member, a certificate suitable for framing, or a membership card. A committee consisting of Lloyd Vaughan, Doug Webb and Steve Marshall was appointed to investigate the alternatives and make a recommendation.

Board members also reviewed a rough draft of the new chamber brochure, presented by publicity committee chairman Bob Jamerson.

The brochure, designed by Frank Thomas, incorporates on its cover original illustrations of the various elements of Appomattox County which make it historically significant.

Inside the brochure, there are photographs depicting life in Appomattox County, as well as pertinent information and maps for prospective tourists and prospective new residents.

Thomas, a graphics specialist who works out of Lynchburg and lives in Appomattox County, designed the brochure free of charge as his contribution to the newly re-organized chamber. The chamber's board of directors identified compilation of a new brochure as one of its top priorities.

Chamber members also directed the president to write a letter to the state director of the Farmers Home Administration expressing the chamber's concern over freezing of funds allocated to Appomattox County for rural housing loans.

Board members also asked that letters be sent to the county's Congressional representatives regarding this matter.

Appomattox Historical Society elects new officers

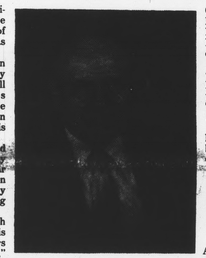
The Appomattox County Historical Society began a new year at the April 19 meeting with the election of J. Robert (Bob) Jamerson as president.

An Appomattox native, Jamerson is a charter member of the Society and has been actively involved in all of its endeavors since its organization in October of 1975. He is widely known for his interest in and knowledge of the history of this county and surrounding areas.

"We are hoping to gain a renewed interest in our Appomattox County Historical Society in the new year beginning this month," Jamerson commented as he enthusiastically talked about plans for the coming year.

"Our Society is still very much alive, The Museum Project is coming along; some of our members have been cataloging cemeteries," he continued.

"We have a number of splendid ideas that would greatly enrich our Society. We need to get busy and preserve our Appomattox heritage," Jamerson added.



Bob Jamerson

In addition to the election of Jamerson as president, Cecil Crawley was elected vice president; Betty Drinkard, secretary; and Margaret O'Brien, treasurer. Mrs. Minerva Kepler was named Curator of the Museum.

Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Mervyn Williamson of Lynchburg College. He chose for his topic, Early Explorers Of The Area That Includes What Is Now Aopomattox."

Williamson, head of the English Department at Lynchburg College, has been interested in history, especially the exploration and settlement of his native county, Appomattox, for many years, but it was in 1967 that his interest deepened.

He is also an ordained minister of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

Williamson and his wife, Rhoda, a native of San Antonio, Texas and a retired receptionist for the Lynchburg Foundry are the parents of four children and three grandchildren.

In speaking of the exploration of this ar... Williamson spoke of John ... Letterer, a German physician, who explored this area in 1670; as far as records show, he was the first white man to settle here.

In 1792 Diuguidsville was laid off as a city in competition to the city of Lynchburg at what is now Bent Creek. It was a major shipping point for tobacco.

"Dr. Williamson's talk," Jamerson concluded, "certainly stimulated interest in the exploration and settlement of this area and I feel this year will be an interesting one for our Society."

Fears expressed here

A group of concerned citizens appeared before the Appomattox Town Council meeting on Monday, April 12, to discuss the high rate of speedy by some drivers as they drive through the Morris Heights Sub-Division.

The group, represented by spokesman, Evelyn Roach, requested that the Town Council ask the Virginia Department of Highways to place speed bumps on Dogwood Street, Lombardy Street and Morris Avenue, along with the proper signs notifying the automobile drivers of the 24-mile-per-hour speed limit and the hazards of the speed bumps.

W. R. Britton, Jr., town manager for Appomattox, has written a letter to the Virginia Department of Highways informing them of the request of the group representing Morris Heights Sub-Division.

"We are concerned, really concerned," said Mrs. Roach, "for the safety of the children and adults alike who live in this vicinity. You would not believe the speed with which some of these drivers come through our neighborhood, that is, unless you saw it! We ask that somthing be done before there is a serious accident."

"We are aware of the problem and are working to correct it. The town law enforcement officers have written nine citations in that area just recently in addition to working with the Department of Highways," commented Britton.

Britton heads drive

William R. Britton Jr. (Bill), Appomattox Town Manager, has accepted the appointment as Chairman of the 1982 Hope Chest Campaign of the Blue Ridge Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Britton, who with his wife, Robin, lives on Ferguson Avenue in Appomattox, said he shares the "deep responsibility" of making the Appomattox Community aware that multiple sclerosis costs patients, their families and the community about 43 billion a year in the United States.

"Just when you are starting to live, MS can strike," said Britton, noting that "MS is the leading cause of chronic disability in young adults, affecting an estimated 500,000 Americans."

"The Blue Ridge Chapter and the MS Society have vital needs for funds to support patient services and research to find the cause and cure for this often disabling disease," said Britton. "I am confident that the Appomattox business community will give all our support to the Blue Ridge Chapter to help make this the most successful campaign we've ever had," he added.

He added, that "the National Multiple Sclerosis Society is the only national voluntary agency seeking to wipe out MS and to improve treatment and the quality of life for MS patients."

Britton added, "We have started a support group for MS patients, their families, and friends. More information concerning this may be obtained by calling Robin or Bill Britton at 352-2554 or the Reverend Ed Leonard at 352-8891.

Bloodmobile here today

It's that time again . . . time for the regularly scheduled visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile, which will be Thursday, April 29 at Liberty Baptist Church from 12 noon until 6 p.m.

Are you a regular donor? Have you ever given?

"Blood is needed," said Mrs. Alice C. Martin, chairman of the Blood Service for Appomattox County. "We hope our regular donors will make plans to attend and give a unit of blood and we also urge any of you who haven't been a donor to make this a first time. You'll be glad you did and we'll be glad you did. We hope to see you on April 29," she concluded.

MRS. ETHEL FOX, 93, of Fairfax is shown with her granddaughter, Miss Joyce McLean Abbitt, also of Fairfax, in the McLean House at the Appomattox Court House National Historical Park. Mrs. Fox, a granddaughter of Wilbur McLean, Sr. who owned the McLean House, donated silver riding spurs belonging to Wilbur Sr. and baby shoes belonging to Wilbur Jr. to the park museum. The silver spurs are not on display, according to Ron Wilson, park historian. Abbitt, the daughter of Herbert Moorman Abbitt of Appomattox, is a great granddaughter of Wilbur McLean Sr. and also a great granddaughter of the late Col. George W. Abbitt of Appomattox. Father Darkleaf

By CALVIN ROBINSON

If variety is the spice of life, Spring '82 is heaping it upon us. Late one night I looked out and saw the Big Dipper in the sky. Next night so foggy could not see to the street corner. One morning a light frost; then warm enough for Bermuda shorts. Takes me at least a week to get accustomed to the semi-annual changing of the clock. During that week I contrive to keep one clock on "the old time." And accuse Brightleaf of having breakfast in the middle of the night. But it works out. They say Ben Franklin invented daylight saving time but I suppose mankind has always adjusted to seasonal changes. We'll make it.

Really, I did not think gold had been discovered on Martha Street, but yellow dust was on my car one morning. Figured it out all by myself. My lawnmower had ground up dandelions and a breeze had scattered the dust. I did nothing about it and 'twas gone after driving to the store and back.

I hed forgotten about my mint patch, but Saturday morning gathered a handful, mashed some in my hands and was pleased that I still had mint. The small patch is about 25 years old. I like the smell of mint and it adds to taste in iced tea.

My, my, azaleas are in bloom and so lovely. All around town. One of the best displays is at the front of Robinson Funeral Home. I neglected my azalea garden but still have a few in a bloom.

Congratulations to Jordan Baptist Church. Observed its 113th anniversary.

ACHS baseball is going great this season. Something like 10 and 2. Girls volleyball another plus. In fact so many activities at our fine school hard to keep up. Tennis, golf, gym, a world of clubs, each with assorted activity backed by talent. And the school session is nearing an end. What's for summer and where to next fall?

I found a hornet on my back porch and ere I finished my swings at bat, seven victims had gone to the hornet happy hunting ground. Now to find their point of entrance.

The famed Kentucky Derby this Saturday. Sorry, but am not excited about it. More interested in the N. Y. Yankees changing managers. Long ago, several Appomattox County communities had their own baseball team. I recall Oakville being one such; doutless Pamplin and Red House. I'll ask Mr. Richard Smith. He will remember, for he was a star player. Ah yes, and the Appomattox Green Sox and Red Sox. big league TV Game of the week. Early in the season, hitters are ahead of pitchers. Simply because it takes hot weather for pitchers' arms to loosen up.
